Port & Douro Wines Institute (IVDP)

SHORT PORTRAIT

Created on 10th September 1756, the Douro winemaking region is the oldest demarcated and regulated wine region in the world. It represents two Designations of Origin: Port and Douro.

Port and Douro can only be produced in the Douro Demarcated Region. These Designations of Origin, Port and Douro, are the guarantee of the distinctive and unique nature of these wines and their origin. Their distinctiveness attests to the fact that the wines are intimately linked to this territory and its culture.

This uniqueness is guaranteed and approved by the Port and Douro Wines Institute (IVDP), the sole body responsible for the control, certification, promotion and protection of the wide range of wines produced with these Designations of Origin.

It is through the innovation of the producers and the effort of the IVDP that quality and consumer confidence are maintained.

■ DOURO WORLD HERITAGE

World Heritage Area - 24.600 ha

■ LOWER CORGO

Area - 45.000 ha

■ UPPER CORGO

Area - 95.000 ha

■ UPPER DOURO

Area - 110.000 ha

Area under vine - 44.000 ha

Total area - 250.000 ha

There is a Port for every moment

There are four main styles of Port, with distinctly different profiles but all bearing the same characteristic hallmarks: a rich, intense and persistent aroma and flavour and a high alcohol content, between 18%v/v and 22%v/v.

Ruby Port (serving temperature 12-16°C)

Full-bodied, rich and powerful, this wine is aged in large stainless steel or oak vats so that it retains its original characteristics reminiscent of fresh Red fruits such as cherries and strawberries. Vintage stands out from all Ruby Ports. This extraordinary wine is selected during the finest vintage years for its quality and potential to age slowly in bottle over many years.

Tawny Port (serving temperature 8-12°C)

These are especially chosen for ageing in oak casks. The wine is gradually exposed to air, there is a concentration of flavours and a maturation of colours that go from Ruby to Tawny, the aromas developing to create complex and subtle flavours of dried fruits, vanilla and caramel. Tawny with an indication of age is produced by blending wood-aged Ports of various years, the resulting wine having all the traits of a Port aged in wood for the length of time mentioned on the label.

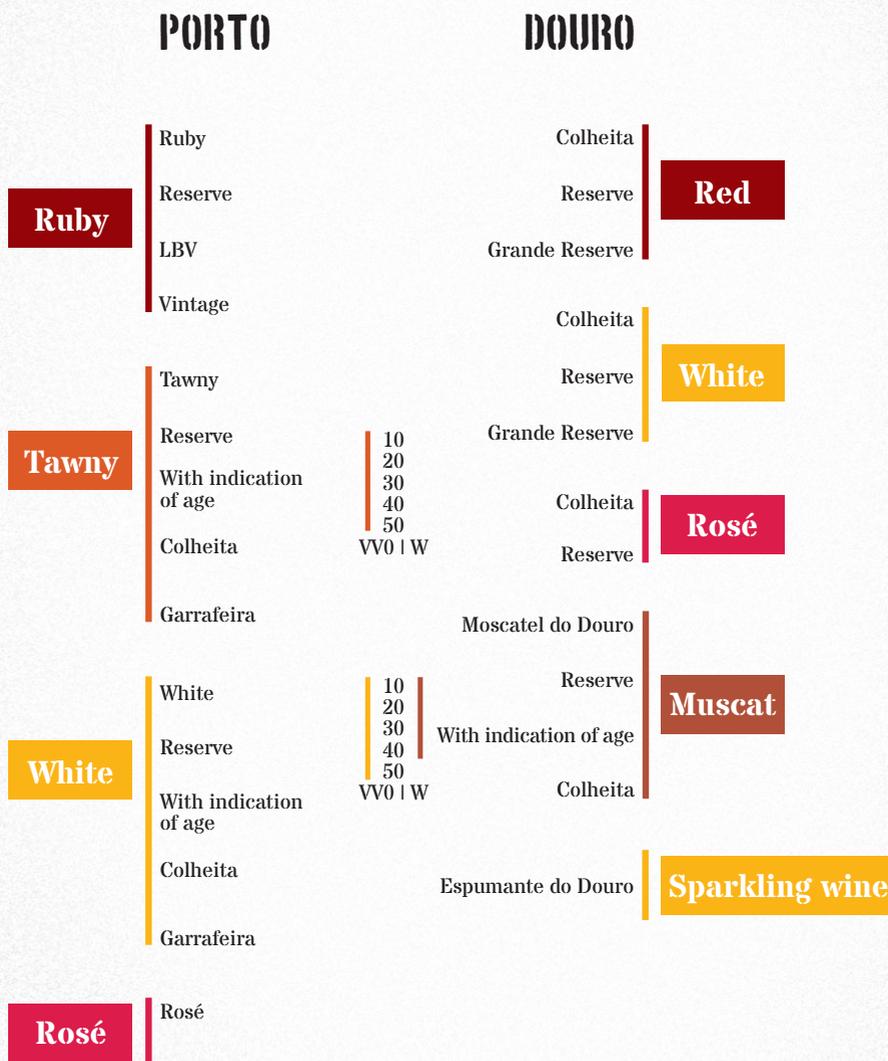

White Port (serving temperature 5-8°C)

Produced from White grapes according to the same method used for Red Ports, this wine offers a world of choice, with colours that range from pale White to gold and intense flavours that go from the very dry to the very rich and sweet.

Rosé Port (serving temperature 4°C or on the rocks)

Pink in colour, with lively aromas of cherry, strawberry and raspberry, it should be enjoyed young, chilled, on the rocks or in cocktails.

SHORT PORTRAIT

The Adega Cooperativa de Favaios, in the Demarcated Region of the Douro, was founded in 1952 and has become one of the largest and most recognized cooperatives of the country due to the distinct quality of the Favaios Moscatel. Favaios is synonymous with Moscatel, a liqueur of the Douro Region, highly appreciated for its sweetness and aromas. The wine enabled the development of the village and it had a great impact in the local economy and architecture.

SHORT PORTRAIT

The Alves de Sousa family is making wines in the Douro Valley for 5 Generations. The old and ever-present wish to find the best embodiment of a Douro vineyard lead Alves de Sousa to work only with indigenous grapes from the family's vineyards. The quality and singularity of the wines have been widely recognized with distinctions and mentions in the most acclaimed national and international publications, with a very special highlight for being awarded two times "Portuguese Wine Producer of the Year" by the most important Portuguese Wine Magazine ("Revista de Vinhos"), becoming the first ever to receive twice the most coveted and prestigious distinction for Portuguese wine producers.

Andresen was founded in 1845 by Jann Hinrich Andresen. In 1942, his heirs sold the Company to Albino Santos. Throughout the years he invested all he could in the finest wines he could get, with the sole purpose of reinforcing stocks, while selling only enough to keep the business healthy. The time had come to start completing what he had dreamed of – Taking Premium to a Higher Level. Today the company remains one of the few independent Portuguese Port Houses 100% family-owned and run.

George Blackett, born in the city of Leeds, was established in Oporto in the nineteenth century as a merchant of Port wines. The revival of the name by Alchemy Wines, Port Wines & Vineyards Lda aims to mark the power of time and with a wine that survives and grows over successive generations. A forgotten name found in the history of Port wine, a story lost in history but a safe example of authenticity.

Bulas, is our family name, a name that became a brand. Bulas, is the handwritten signature of José Bulas Cruz, father of the current owner, and a very prestigious man in Douro, thus Bulas, represent our tribute, and our commitment to our wine project. Bulas wines are produced, in the steep banks of the river Douro in the region of Upper Corgo which have always yielded wines of excellence. By producing wines of exceptional quality, which capture the essence of the Douro in a sustainable way, the Bulas family maintains tradition and preserves the culture and heritage of this extraordinary and unique wine region.

In the vineyards overlooking the Vilarica Valley, Lodões is located in the extreme north and interior of the region, the Upper Douro. Shale terraces facing south and southwest have a perfect sun exposure, creating one of the best terroirs of the region. The estate with 25ha property and 13ha under vine, along with the best enological practices, produce unique Douro still wines. With a strong connection to the river Douro, in the passage of testimony to the 3rd generation, we added the family experience in Vinhos Verdes to Douro wines.

Christie's Port Wine Producer & Shipper, Lda is a traditional family company which has been trading in Port Wine for two generations during which the legacy of Port has continued to grow throughout the last century. We have gained a wealth of experience during those decades. Combining it with our passion for the Douro region, it has resulted in the knowledge and ability to create exceptional quality wines year after year. We are now continuing the long-lasting conservative history of Butler & Nephew, established in 1829, honouring the ancestral and traditional association with quality wine growing.

SHORT PORTRAIT

We are a family Douro wine producer based near the small village of Vila Nova de Foz Côa, Douro Superior, where we are sustainably exploring 10 hectares of own vineyards in biological mode. Grape growers for many decades, we started our activity as wine producers in 2012.

Vineyards are located at an altitude ranging from 350 to 600 meters, soil is mostly schist based and very low in nutrition allowing the yield to remain low and the wines to be top quality and genuine.

Wines are exciting and unique blends of indigenous grapes, very elegant and balanced. We have also a differentiating image, labels are great innovative hand-made illustrations of Douro and our vineyards, unique for each reference.

We are exporting to some EU and non-EU countries and we're looking for partners to expand the project.

This important Douro Estate was the last great achievement of Dona Antónia Adelaide Ferreira, the legendary great Lady of the Douro, and the only property that was totally planted by her, on 270 hectares of barren common land purchased from the town council of Vila Nova de Foz Côa in 1877. It is now owned by her great-great grandson Francisco Javier de Olazabal, formerly president of the Port and Douro Wine Company A.A. Ferreira, to whom the grapes of the property used to be sold. In 1998 he decided to resign in order to develop its own winemaking project under the technical direction of his son, Francisco de Olazabal y Nicolau de Almeida. Today, Francisco, Luísa, and Jaime are part of the company's management, each in their own role while sharing the same passion for wine.

SHORT PORTRAIT

In 1994, three of the Meireles' family sons, Frederico, Afonso and Manuel, an oenologist, an agricultural technician and a military official, respectively, decided to turn the small family vineyards located in Douro (Beira Grande - Carrazeda de Ansiães - Portugal) into a dynamic business. They believed that they could make the most of these family fields by starting a motivational project in the winegrowing area. And that's what happened. Due to our location - Upper DOURO – our wines are produced under specific conditions: schistose origin soil, cold winters and very hot dry summers. Reds are produced between 200 and 450 meters of altitude, on predominant schistose soils. The grapes used are DOURO's traditional varieties: Touriga Nacional, Touriga Franca and Tinta Roriz. White wines come from different soils, they are from sandy granitic source. The vineyards are located at upper altitudes, from 450 to 600 meters. The grapes are Portuguese autochthonous: Códaga do Larinho, Rabigato and Viosinho.

The Kranemann Wine Estates vineyards, located in the valley of the River Távora, namely in the Quinta do Convento de São Pedro das Águias, benefit from a unique Douro location. By respecting and capitalising on a combination of physical characteristics (altitude and vineyard orientation), coupled with the predominance of poor schist and granite prevalent soils, another outstanding factor in the Douro, allows us to create surprisingly fresh and elegant wines with a great potential for ageing. In the 150-hectare terroir of the Quinta do Convento de São Pedro das Águias, where viticulture coexists with 5000 olive trees, fruit trees and forest, 57 hectares of vineyard arise, whose planting goes back to 1970. Standing out are Douro's classic grape varieties, such as Touriga Nacional, Touriga Franca, Tinta Roriz and Tinta Barroca, as well as a lot of white grapes dominated by Viosinho and Rabigato.

SHORT PORTRAIT

Would you be able to work closely with your brother or sister – or would you kill each other? António and Joana Maçanita seem to get along just fine in their mutual Douro project that goes under their last name, Maçanita. The wines are more than promising and the siblings aren't afraid of pushing the boundaries and forcing us to leave our comfort zone. Two winemakers in the family! What are the odds for that? Meet the Maçanita's and get to know their wines!

SHORT PORTRAIT

It is in the heart of the Douro, the first demarcated region in the world, birthplace of the Port Wine and World Heritage of Humanity, which is born Mateus & Sequeira Vinhos SA, between old vineyards and shale, between the Douro, Torto and Côa rivers. .. This is where we grow, live and create our wines, with this growing passion, with the utmost respect for nature and the history of the Douro. It is in this distant and magical place that we build our cellars and our farms to breathe the aromas of the stems, the shrubs and the herbs, the flowers, the fruits and the land that feeds us. And it's all this that we want to reflect on in every wine of ours ... because only then does it make sense.

Hello from Portugal! 5 Bagos produces estate grown terroir-focussed wines under the label Palato do Côa. We are located in one of the most renowned terroirs of the Douro Region Superior: Muxagata, Vila Nova de Foz Côa. Our terroir stands apart from others in the region- rich in calcium carbonate and dolomite, giving our wines an exquisite flavor and separation from others around us. We're looking for partners to increase sales in the export market. We produce wines that we and our friends like to drink and that compete and surpass what is best in the region. The objective, without the constraint of strict deadlines and goals, is simple: to create the best Douro wines, exclusively from our 17 ha of vineyards, blending modern and traditional winemaking techniques in our state of the art cellar, located in the center of our estate.

Portugal Boutique Winery was born from the desire to preserve and disseminate the Portuguese wine wealth, so present in our culture and with centuries-old roots.

It was in the Douro Valley - the first Demarcated Region in the World - that PBW took its first steps, revealing the specificities of its different terroirs and vinifying grapes from vines with different soils, altitudes and exhibitions. The wines created by Portugal Boutique Winery are unique, true, with their own identity. Wines that, although so different from each other, reflect their origin. Its geography. They are wines from Portugal. Wines that define the Portuguese Soul.

In 1995, winemaker Jorge Alves began an internship at Caves Transmontanas, where he began his professional complicity with the also winemaker Celso Pereira. One day they got their hands on winemaking and in 2001 they established a society for what was to be a memorable time. They launched the wine with the name Quanta Terra, which immediately obtained a superlative consensus on the part of the critic. The market recognized and added yet another reference in the prestigious universe of Portuguese wines, with Quanta Terra responding breezy with a gradual increase of its quality in the harvests that followed. The story of Caves Transmontanas begins with collaboration between Jack Davies and the portuguese winemakers João Maia and Celso Pereira. They researched areas of Portugal where it would be most suitable for the foundation and development of quality sparkling wines from tradicional Portuguese grape varieties. Caves Transmontanas prides itself on the production of premium sparkling wines.

Quevedo is part of a new generation of small family wineries based in the Douro. For many years, these families were growing grapes, and making Port Wine, for merchants based in Vila Nova de Gaia. When Portugal joined the European Union in 1986, legislation changed to allow both grape growers and wineries in the Douro to export their wines directly to the retailer. As a result of this new legislation, the family brand “Quevedo” was born. We cultivate 100 ha of vineyards across five properties in the Douro valley, from the sub-regions of the Cima Corgo and the Douro Superior. The diversity of our vineyards provides grapes of varying aromas and flavors to help us craft our wine.

The story of José Fortunato Júnior and his wife, Antónia Soares Fortunato, is that of a lifetime dedicated to Port. In 1941, they acquired Quinta da Devesa and today it remains an independent family business dedicated to production of Port and Douro wines.

Quinta da Devesa carries a long history. In 1844, the well-known Barão de Forrester included this property in what was the first map of the Douro Demarcated Region. But the most important history of this property began in the last century, in 1941, when Fortunato family acquired the property, thus starting a new phase of greater investment in wine production, with a special focus on Port Wine. Quinta da Devesa Douro and Port wines are produced exclusively from grapes grown in our vineyards, vinified and aged in the estate.

Quinta da Pedra Alta, located in the highest part of the Cima Corgo, is one of the ‘new wave’ of Portuguese producers making wines in an ‘approachable Douro’ style. Our 35ha of terraced vineyards sit between 230 and 550 metres above sea level and are home to 3 of the granite markers (Feitoria), that were put in place in 1761 for the demarcation of the Port region. Our site enables us to produce a complete ‘dinner party’ range - from apéritif (White Port), through aromatic and textural whites, to fresher lighter reds, richer styles of red and on to Vintage and Tawny Ports.

The oldest historical records of Quinta da Rede date from 1484, and the estate was part of the Douro wine region even before the official demarcation of 1756. The Quinta overlooks the Douro, on the right bank, between Mesão Frio and Regua, at an altitude of between 90 to 140 metres in a historical spot where fishing-nets (rede) were cast across the river. Quinta da Rede is an integral part of the magnificent Douro landscape recognised by UNESCO as a World Heritage Site. Tradition and modernity are the two key elements of the Alves family's philosophy throughout their ranges Casa de Cambres, Rede and Quinta da Rede. So different and yet so complementary, these unique wines, true reflections of their terroir, are crafted for individual occasions and universal pleasure.

SHORT PORTRAIT

Quinta da Sequeira, is a traditional family-owned estate located in Vila Nova de Foz Côa - Douro Superior. The Quinta de Sequeira's prime location is crucial for the superior quality of the grapes. The combination of schist soil, very low rainfall and large thermic range provides intense, rich and concentrated wines. In our 15 ha (37 acres) of vineyards we only grow the traditional grape varieties and preserve the old vineyards, the oldest are over 100 years old, although less productive they offer a superior wine concentration. The Quinta da Sequeira's success is the result of passion, devotion, determination and hard work. The quality control begins in the vineyard, and each step, from the viticulture to the winemaking process is subject to severe standards of exigency. To reach this level of excellence, we grow all the grapes used to produce our wines, and all the winemaking process is totally developed by us. All our wines are produced, aged and bottled on the estate.

SHORT PORTRAIT

Quinta de Cottas is a family company focused on producing high quality wines. Located near Pinhão, the estate has conditions of excellence for the production of Douro and Port wines. In order to preserve the region's genetic heritage, it's shale soils are only populated with the most traditional varieties of this unique region. Some of the old vineyards achieve 70 years of age and consist of vines mixed with about 16 different varieties. New vineyards were planted in clearly defined areas, breaking with the tradition of mixing different varieties on the same plot. The red grape varieties present are Touriga Nacional, Touriga Franca, Tinta Roriz, Tinto Cão, Sousão and Tinta Francisca, and Viosinho, Gouveio and Arinto in white grapes. The combination of these two types of vineyards, coupled with a low production, results in grapes of a unique profile and character, allowing the production of high quality wines with a distinct personality that express the unique terroir of this estate.

Quinta de la Rosa has been in the Bergqvist family since 1906, although they have been in the Port trade as shippers under the family name, Feueheerd, since 1815. It currently has around 62 hectares under vine and produces around 80,000 litres of Port and 300,000 litres of table wine each year. Since 2002, Jorge Moreira, one of the finest wine makers in Portugal, has been making wines at La Rosa. Quinta de La Rosa is set in the heart of the Alto Douro 'A' grade Port growing area and is located along the banks of the river, near Pinhão.

Quinta de S. José is a family project that began in early 1999 by the will of the João's father, Ruy Brito e Cunha, due to the excellent location of the houses in the Quinta, practically on the side of the river. The houses were restored, respecting the framing and typical materials of the Douro region. In 2005, João Brito e Cunha bought to his family the entire area of vines, bushes and trade-mark of Quinta de S. José to devote to the project of production and marketing of branded wines from Quinta de S. José. The estate has an área of 10 hectares of vineyards and the property integrates the Douro Valley, area classified as "World Heritage Site".

SHORT PORTRAIT

The Quinta de Tourais, located in the Douro region classified as a World Heritage site, has been in the Coelho family for three generations. Until 1999, the grapes produced in the farm were sold entirely to an export company for the production of Port Wine. In 1999, under the responsibility of winemaker Fernando Coelho, the first wines were produced in the farm. Currently, the property where our wines are born has 3,8 ha, where we have planted about 17,000 vines. We invest 100% in the traditional Douro grape varieties which, thanks to their richness and variety, produce unique wines infused with the personality of the land where they grow. About 30 different varieties of white and red grape varieties are grown on the estate, most of them from vines older than 60 years. The passion that we invest in the entire winemaking process, from monitoring our land and our vines to blending the final product, is felt in the uniqueness of the wines and seen in the importance that we dedicate to the final image.

Nestled on a privileged location in the Douro Demarcated Region, Quinta do Crasto dates back to ancient times – the name ‘Crasto’ is derived from the Latin word ‘castrum’, which means ‘Roman fort’. Located in the heart of the Cima Corgo, between Régua and Pinhão, Quinta do Crasto covers 130 hectares of predominantly southern-facing slopes, extending from the banks of the river up to an altitude of nearly 600 meters. Vineyards that cover 75 hectares are mostly planted on terraces carved from schist. It is owned by family Roquette and under the family for 100 years, producing premium Douro Wines and Ports.

Quinta do Cume is a family owned company dedicated to the production of Douro wines, located on the right bank of the Douro Valley in the historic village of Provesende in the north east of Portugal. Jorge Tenreiro, a vascular surgeon and his wife Claudia Cudell, a plastic artist have always been passionate about the Douro region. This driven passion soon transformed into the making of Quinta do Cume which rapidly became their life’s work. The rugged terrain, schistose soil, proximity to water, sun exposure and high altitude are features which make this terroir unique for producing high quality wines. Quinta do Espinho covers 20 hectares over Távora River on the left bank of Douro River, the wine culture centre of Douro Valley in the sub-region of Cima Corgo where some of the most emblematic Port Wine farms are situated.

Quinta do Espinho wines are single Quinta (estate) table wines, traded since 1996.

Our wines are high-quality Quinta wines (Domaine wines), made with our own selected grapes from a distinctive combination of varieties, in complete control of the production cycle, from grapes selection to winemaking and bottling. Our wines also reflect the investments made in the recovery of the old “Lagares” (wide, thigh-deep granite treading tanks) and a state-of-the-art winery, completed in 2011. We favor the combination of the traditional method of winemaking and temperature control, in “Lagares” with the most modern winemaking and maturation technology, in casks or stainless steel vats, depending on the wanted wine.

SHORT PORTRAIT

The Quinta do Infantado Porto and Douro wines are grown, produced, matured and bottled at the Quinta (Estate). The Quinta is located near Pinhão, at an altitude of 150 metres, in a sub-region called Gontelho, which has long been renowned as a source of outstanding Porto wines. This winery was established in 1816 by D. Pedro IV, the Portuguese crown heir, as a winery was needed to collect taxes, which were then paid in grapes or wine. This is the origin of the Quinta's name: Infantado derives from Infante, the Portuguese for Prince. Prince D. Pedro IV later became Emperor of Brazil. The Roseira family has owned Quinta do Infantado for over a century. All the vineyards are class A (the best in Douro Valley). This gives wines of great power and intensity. In 1979 Quinta do Infantado sold its first single Quinta Estate Bottled Port, renewing an ancient tradition lost for more than 50 years. It was a new step in Quinta do Infantado long history.

Located in the Douro Region, specifically in sub-region of Cima-Corgo, in the village of Ervedosa do Douro, São João da Pesqueira, Quinta do Pessegueiro Winery is renowned for its extraordinary architecture.

Owned by a French investor, Roger Zannier, the Quinta do Pessegueiro winery possesses distinct and unique characteristics. The building has five levels and combines traditional methods of high-quality wine production with more sophisticated equipment.

A real technological challenge, our cellar was designed to use the natural gravity throughout the entire process that turns the grape into wine.

João Nicolau de Almeida, the estate's winemaker and his passionate team, cultivate a unique know-how. Their philosophy enhances this remarkable terroir of Douro area while maintaining the diversity of the grape varieties in order to create wines with unique flavours.

Quinta do Pôpa is set within a family background, aiming to extend the brand through its history, the high-quality of its products, the slight taste of schist from where the grapes originated from, the sun from where the grapes have matured as well as the people who collected them. When creating and producing the Quinta do Pôpa wines we use methods, which have brought together the most sophisticated techniques along with centuries of laborious tradition – 70% of the showcased wines are produced using traditional foot treading (pisa a pé). We explore our grape varieties to their full potential, keeping to the historic timeline of the Douro grape varieties. Some of these varieties come from vines which are over 80 years old, all being A classified and growing over the mirrored waters of the Douro River.

SHORT PORTRAIT

Van Zellers and Co. sees a new light with the 14th and 15th Generation. It celebrates 400 years of the family in the Port trade and 2021 saw the relaunch of the portfolio with a new image, a new philosophy and a new range of wines. Respect for the Douro, for its heritage, diversity, expression, tradition and people is what keeps us in the wine trade. Innovation, perseverance and reinvention is what makes us today a rare must-try experience. Van Zellers and Co. expresses today's Port and Douro wines in three different categories – wines that have been Crafted by Hand, Crafted by Time or Crafted by Nature. These three factors are responsible for the creation of such diversity in styles, flavours and textures behind the complexity of Port and Douro wines. It's our own craftsmanship and knowledge, time itself or the magic behind nature, that transforms Port and Douro wines into something unique in each bottling.

SHORT PORTRAIT

The Vieira De Sousa family has been producing Port Wine for at least for 5 generations. In 2008 Luisa, as the new generation, decided to change and created Vieira de Sousa, focusing not only on the production (as the previous generations did) but started bottling Port Wine too. All of our wines are produced with grapes from the 4 “Quintas” of the family, which are almost 60 hectares in Douro Valley: Quinta da Água Alta, Quinta do Fojo Velho, Quinta Fonte and Quinta do Roncão Pequeno. These ones are located along the Douro river allowing us to produce different wines and maintain quality every year.

SHORT PORTRAIT

“These lands are mine. One day you will still be with them and make a great farm” the great-uncle of Engineer Hernâni Verdelho foretold, with ancient wisdom, gazing from the dusty National Road 222 - the best on the planet to drive - the serene and sunny Quinta do Carrenho. About 40 years ago Hernâni Verdelho started a project of conversion and improvement of its vineyard heritage of old vineyards, followed by the planting of new vineyards. After the death of Eng. Hernâni, in 2011, the house was managed by his Heirs - wife (Maria Fernanda Verdelho) and children (Isabel Andrade and Pedro Verdelho) who continued this project with the same dedication and love as his founder. Today, your spirit endures in the sweeping passion that these landscapes, lands and wines awaken, a passion that we invite you to taste!

SHORT PORTRAIT

Two generations marked the birth of VINILOURENÇO ... Horácio Augusto Lourenço planted the first vineyards in the 1980s and impelled the foundations of his dream. His son, Jorge Miguel Graça Lourenço, developed the viticulture, created the wines and structured the company as we know it today. It is a story of passion, struggle, entrepreneurial ability and a deep love of the land, illustrated by a small family business with 45 hectares of vineyards and wine brands that begin to reach the four corners of the world.

SHORT PORTRAIT

Located in the heart of Portugal's Douro Valley, the philosophy of Wine & Soul has been based on respect for the family legacy passed down by the long winemaking tradition of the Douro region with an innovative perspective. Focusing on single vineyard production which each wine assumes its own identity, reflecting the vineyard that gave birth to it. The result of this commitment and dedication are wines that represent the exceptional terroir of the Douro region. The parcels of vines owned by Wine & Soul have been acquired over the years since its foundation in 2001. The vineyards situated in the Douro region, more specifically at Vale do Pinhão, Cima Corgo sub-region, consist mainly of old vines over 80 years old with field blends of native grape varieties. Among them are "Quinta da Manoella", a property in the possession of the Serôdio Borges family for five generations, and the 85-year-old "Pintas Vineyard".
